

Net neutrality is so hugely important and is what makes the internet what it is today. Without it, everything amazing about the web will be taken away, and a handful of companies will just continue to get bigger and more powerful at the expense of everyone else.

Sincerely,
Kalila Holt